LOCAL GATHERINGS.

—The Free Baptists give a sugar party in the vestry tonight. Twenty cents pays the bill.

—Poster G. Stevens, the well-known and accomplished tailor, has entered the employ of A. M. Goodrich.

—The new school board have organized by electing Harvin Paddock chairman and F. V. Powers clerk.

—The street committee have placed signs at the corners of all the village streets so that he who runs may read.

—Clover Temple give their novel art exhibition at the Pythian hall this evening. It will be an entertainment well worth attending.

—Two freight cars were badly damaged on the St. J. & L. C. at Fairfield Monday morning, a broken beam being the cause. Trains were delayed about three hours.

—The class of '93 at the St. Johnsbury Academy will hold their second annual reunion and banquet at the St. Johnsbury House on the evening of Friday, June 19.

—Further subscriptions are solicited at the savings banks for the Armenian relief fund. The amount now received is $68.25 and it should be known that the larger part of this has been given by women.

—E. L. Hovey and N. P. Bowman have finished taking the school census of St. Johnsbury. There are 1561 children over five and under 21 years. There were 95 deaths and 129 births in town in 1895.

—C. D. Bagley is rejoicing over the receipt of a check of $225 from the Preferred Accident Insurance Co. for injuries received at the Avenue House fire. The policy was taken through W. W. Sprague, the agent of the company.

—Street Superintendent Cheney will take ashes from any house through this month free of charge if he is notified where he is wanted. The street committee find ashes make an excellent filling after the spring frosts have softened the roads, and can use all the ashes they can get.

—About thirty members of the Golden Cross went to West Concord Saturday evening to attend a sugar party given by the commandery in that place in G. A. R. hall. All report a fine time and are ready to accept another invitation to enjoy the hospitality of the West Concord lodge.

—A long distance telephone was placed on the desk in the church of the Messiah in Montpelier last Sunday and the Easter music and sermon in that church were distinctly heard in St. Johnsbury and Springfield. Owing to a grounded wire at Springfield connection with Boston could not be made.

—F. C. Kennedy of Burlington, president of the St. Johnsbury Electric Railway Company, was here this week with a Providence engineer looking over the route of the electric road. The gentlemen expressed themselves as much pleased with the proposed route, and said if the power could be secured and favorable contracts made the road would be running by the Fourth of July.

—Miss Mary Snow, an aged lady who lived alone on her farm above Paddock village, was found dead in bed on Sunday morning. A man called at the house to shovel snow and finding the doors locked went to the neighbors. The neighbors broke the lock and sent for a physician who said she had been dead several hours. She was an estimable lady and had lived alone for quite awhile.

—A novel design for a monument will rest over the grave of J. W. Ramsay, a former St. Johnsbury boy, whose remains are buried in the cemetery at Waitsfield. It will be in the form of a tree stump four feet and six inches high and two feet through at the base. From the top of the stump is to project a large broken limb and upon the trunk are to be a number of knots. The inscription is to be raised in polished letters.

—The Rector's Aid Society of St. Andrew's Episcopal church will hold its annual Easter Sale, supper and social Monday afternoon and evening, April 13, at Grand Army Hall. There will be a candy table, fancy table, fruit and jelly table and a line of sterling silverware. A chicken pie supper will be served from 6:30 to 8 o'clock. Supper tickets may be procured of Mrs. Ellen R. Pike at 25 cents.

—Testimony was taken here yesterday in the libel suit of Gov. Woodbury against the Herald. The plaintiff, Gov. Woodbury, was present with one of his counsel, D. J. Foster, of Burlington. The defendant was represented by Editor Perkins of the Rutland Herald and W. P. Stafford, one of defendant's attorneys. About a dozen witnesses were examined. The trial will be held in Burlington April 28, before Chief Judge Ross and Assistant Judges Rowell and Tyler of the supreme court.

—Saturday was the worst day of the season for railroad men between here and Danville. A freight train left here at half-past four Saturday afternoon and reached Danville at one Sunday morning, making the distance of twelve miles in eight and one-half hours. In one place there was eight car-lengths of snow four feet deep. The boys on the train said they didn't notice anything very bad about the weather when they left the station here, but it was something terrible on the hills.

—There will be no services in Grace M. E. church next Sunday, Mr. Tyrie being absent at the conference in Barre. A week from next Sunday evening there will be a patriotic service in this church in honor of the 121st anniversary of the battle of Concord and Lexington. An interesting programme will be arranged, some of the features of which will be readings by Mrs. George H. Frost and Miss Mabel Hamilton and an address by Wendell P. Stafford. Further notice will be given next week.

Brief Local Items.—Two hundred and nine dogs have been licensed at the town clerk's office up to April 1.—Chamberlain Post have engaged B. H. Sanborn of Boston, of the publishing firm of Leach, Shewell & Sanborn, to deliver the Memorial day address.—The contract for carrying the mails between the post office and the depot has been awarded to J. L. Grady.—H. L. Doyle, the former landlord of the Avenue House, has gone to Newport to become the landlord of the Newport House.—The display in Arthur F. Walker's show window has a moral effect as well as being one of his cleverest ads. Everything in the window is poison, so the signs says, and the skull with a cigarette in its mouth and resting on some boxes of cigarettes adds a gruesome effect to the whole.—Miss Ellen Stickney has removed her dress-making rooms to the Walker block over Mrs. Pierce's store.—Carl H. Turner is making a great hit in his monologue work, having filled three engagements last week, including two out of town.—Don C. Stiles, the bustling proprietor of the Union Advertising Agency, will issue next week another number of his paper. It will be full of interesting matter.

Instructor Blood's Work.—Ernest A. Blood, for the past six months instructor in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, left for his home in Nashua, N. H., last Saturday. He has not yet decided where he will resume work, but he has several good offers from different Y. M. C. A.'s, one being from Charleston, S. C. Mr. Blood is an excellent gymnasium instructor, has made a thorough study of the work, and the association that secures his services is to be congratulated. He has given perfect satisfaction here and the public exhibitions of the gymnasium classes show the thoroughness of his instruction. He is a genial young man, always goodnatured and had been here but a short time before he had made himself popular with all. It is seldom that one sees a finer all-round muscular developed man than Mr. Blood, which is due to the course of training through which he has put himself and which he keeps up to keep him in good form for instructing.

PERSONALS.

Ned Stiles is visiting in North Munroe this week.

Frank O. French has been on the sick list the past week.

Clement Andrews of Danville, P. Q., is visiting at W. N. Randall's.

C. C. Bingham and family are at Lakewood, N. J., for a few weeks.

Father Boissonnault went to Montreal last Monday and returns today.

C. W. Plummer of Lakeport, N. H., was in town the first of the week.

Miss Lillian Taylor commenced clerking for E. N. Randall last Monday.

Miss Fanny Ide is a student at the Academy of Design in New York city.

Rev. M. Atwood preached in the Free Will Baptist church, at Sutton last Sunday.

Frank Baker is manipulating the razor and shears in A. J. Roy's barber shop on the Avenue.

C. A. Eldridge was called to Boston last week on account of the sickness of his father.

Ex-Gov. W. P. Dillingham of Waterbury was the guest of O. V. Hooker Wednesday.

Mrs. J. R. B. Hunt and Mrs. H. C. Wilson returned to Troy Wednesday, after spending a week with friends here.

J. S. Weeks inspected Eastern Star lodges in Randolph and Brookfield the first of this week, also making a brief stop in Montpelier.

John T. Ritchie has gone on a western trip in the interest of the Citizens bank. Sioux City will be one of his objective points.

George H. Cross was taken suddenly sick last week with appendicitis, and his many friends will be glad to learn he is much better now.

George Bush has been elected financial keeper of records of Green Mountain Commandery, I. O. G. C., in place of H. I. Pickering, resigned.

Domest Poirer of Quebec, is visiting friends in town. He was for several years a resident of this town, leaving here about twenty years ago.

Rev. T. W. Darling, a former Congregational pastor at Danville, who is now located at Wentworth, N. H., called on his St. Johnsbury friends this week.

Palestine Commandery holds a sociable next Thursday evening, to which all Sir Knights and their ladies are invited. L. F. Gaskill will cater for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Follansbee pleasantly observed their 15th wedding anniversary Tuesday night by inviting in a large number of friends for an evening party.

Misses Maud McLeod, Ellen Putney and Lucy Heath returned to Smith's college Wednesday. Miss Lulu Harvey returned to Wellesley college Monday.

Mrs. John H. Moore and Miss Bertha Hovey gave a five o'clock tea to about 30 of their lady friends at her home Monday afternoon. Two hours were spent very pleasantly in a social way.

Miss Alice Browne, who has acceptably filled a position as one of the sopranos of the North church choir, has resigned her position and gone to Hillsboro Bridge, N. H., to work in a dress-making establishment.

Former St. Johnsbury physician now located in Malden, Mass., is in the Emerson School of Oratory at Boston and doing finely as a reader. He has appeared in Malden and other places around Boston and received great praise for his work.

This has been a great week for visits from out of town journalists. Editor Lewis of the Morrisville News and Citizen was here last day, Editor Perkins of the Rutland Herald was here on business connected with his paper's libel suit and Editor Forbes of the Vermonter was here Wednesday.

About 30 of the little friends of Grace G. Hovey gathered at the home of Mrs. John H. Moore, in Summerville, on Wednesday afternoon, to remind her of her twelfth birthday. Games, refreshments and a general good time was the programme. The little friends left many tokens, showing the high esteem in which Miss Grace is held by her schoolmates.

Henry C. Ide, eldest son of Elmore T. Ide, is now a full-fledged M. D., having graduated on March 23 from the Bellevue Hospital Medical college in New York. Dr. Ide is now temporarily on the hospital staff, and his first case was to dress a wound for Joseph Thompson, a noted burglar who was shot by a New York detective while trying to escape from a posse of officers.

About 20 of the friends of George E. Dean, including a goodly number of Pythians, gave him a farewell banquet at Clifford's restaurant on Wednesday evening. O. H. Henderson was toastmaster and brief speeches were made by all the boys. Mr. Dean was presented with a gold-mounted pipe as a slight testimonial of the esteem in which he is held. Mr. Dean has gone to West Burke, but will be a frequent visitor here in the future.

A Home Wedding.—A quiet wedding took place at the residence of William H. Carr, Lafayette street, Tuesday evening, his daughter, Miss Frances G., being united in marriage to Elbridge G. Farnsworth of Barnet. About 20 friends and relatives were present and left a number of fine presents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. M. Douglass. Refreshments were served and the couple left on the night train for a short wedding trip to Canada. Many friends extend congratulations.

Anniversary Reminder.—About 50 friends of Chester Dean and wife called upon them at their home in Summerville last Thursday evening to remind them that they had been married 40 years. O. H. Henderson, in behalf of their many friends, presented Mr. and Mrs. Dean with a fine range and Mr. Dean responded with a few words of thanks. The company was entertained with several vocal selections from Mrs. Henderson and refreshments were served. A pleasant social time was enjoyed and all left wishing Mr. and Mrs. Dean many more such occasions.

A Busy Day.—Rev. Frank Appleton did not see an idle minute Easter Sunday. He commenced the day's programme by driving to Lyndonville, where he preached and held communion service at 7:30 a. m. He returned and held regular services here, at 10:30, administering communion and attending Sunday School. At 3 o'clock he was in North Concord, where he preached and held communion and was back in his pulpit at St. Johnsbury at 5, delivering an excellent sermon. He preached five sermons, held three communions and attended one Sunday School, driving over 60 miles to accomplish the work. Mr. Appleton evidently possesses powers of endurance beyond that of most men.

Fraternity Notes.—Green Mountain Commandery of I. O. G. C. held a memorial meeting in Pythian hall last Friday evening in memory of George Blodgett, Albert Brock, Mrs. Howard Lucas and Mrs. O. G. Dean, lately deceased. The exercises consisted of singing, with addresses by Rev. George Waterman and Rev. H. M. Douglas, and remarks by George Bush, keeper of records, and L. W. Rowell, past grandcommander. This order was organized nine years ago, and out of a membership of about 100, only seven have died, and four of these within the past two months. The late Mr. Blodgett was one of the charter members.

The Eastern Star gave a very successful literary and musical entertainment at Masonic hall Monday evening, ending with a new sugar party. About 200 people attended.

The Sons of Veterans gave an entertainment at Grand Army hall on Monday evening which was a success both socially and financially. The Lyndonville camp were the guests of the occasion.

There was a special conclave of the Knights Templars in the Masonic hall Tuesday evening, and an official visitation and inspection was made by Sir Robert J. Wright of Newport, Very Eminent Deputy Grand Commander, and Grand Commander, Right Eminent Sir Silas W. Cummings of St. Albans. There was a large number of visiting Sir Knights from Lyndonville, West Concord, Danville, Lunenburg and other towns. Knight Templar degree was conferred on two candidates and the work pronounced well done by the visiting grand officers. The conclave closed with a banquet. About 150 sat down to the tables and did ample justice to the fine spread served by Caterer Gaskill.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Heath will deliver the address at the celebration of the anniversary of Odd Fellowship on the 24th.

Business Notes.—Miss Halley has returned from the city market and the ladies will be interested in the opening of spring and summer millinery which is now being held at her store in the Y. M. C. A. block.

Louis T. Beaudoin is now prepared to do all kinds of gardening, lawn trimming and general landscape work.

H. H. Carr left Tuesday for Boston to stock up with spring goods and perhaps take a peep at the big horse show in Mechanics' building.

N. R. Switzer and men were in Lyndonville the first of the week, equipping the new blocks with awnings.

E. C. Pierce & Co. are having their opening of spring and summer millinery and have styles and prices to please everybody.

Miss Ella Williamson has an opening of millinery goods at 62 Railroad street this week Friday and Saturday.

The pink window in Bundy's shoe store not only attracts attention but ought to result in selling their fine line of ladies shoes.

Miss L. C. French commenced her millinery opening Monday, and is showing all the novelties of the season.

EASTER SUNDAY.

Fittingly Observed in Our Churches.

We lay a seed in the dark, brown earth, Patiently waiting its hour of birth. The sun will shine, the rain will fall—God's tender care will guard it all. The seed will sprout, the leaf will grow, The life its heart of gold will show. We sow the seed in faith all day, 'Tis the lesson sweet of our Easter day.

We bury the forms we love away, Patiently waiting a coming day. A risen Christ will bring again Forms that for years in dust have lain. Then like the seed, the ear, the flower, They'll feel the thrill of quickening power. On shining wings they'll upward rise To purer air and native skies. We lay the loved in faith all day, 'Tis the lesson sweet of our Easter day. —[Mrs. Mary B. Wingate.]

In tens of thousands of churches all over the Christian land people congregated last Sabbath to celebrate the church's most significant festival, Easter Sunday. All denominations were equally interested; all put forth their best efforts to a fitting observance of the day with preaching, music and flowers.

Though not such a day as one would choose for Easter or as a lady would like for displaying a new spring bonnet, Sunday was not near as bad as it might have been. The day opened cloudy and a storm was threatened, but later the clouds broke away giving the blue sky and the sun an opportunity to brighten up the earth and make glad the hearts of its people. Our churches all presented unusually interesting exercises, flowers were profusely displayed, the music was fine, and there were few vacant seats in the audience rooms. The children and those who drilled them deserve a large amount of credit for the part they took in the evening concert programmes. The day is over but not forgotten; the impressions it made will last till the coming of another Easter. Below is given an outline of the services in the different churches.

Methodist.

There was scarcely a vacant seat here in the morning. Rev. Mr. Tyrie preached an excellent Easter sermon from John 14: 2, taking for his topic "Christ's treatment of death." He told his hearers when those they love are taken from them, instead of looking down into the grave with hearts heavy with sorrow, they should try to look up, think of the happy home their dear ones are now in and rejoice. It was a helpful sermon, containing many new ideas. All present speak in high terms of the musical programme as rendered by the quartette. There was a fine display of Easter and calla lilies. The church was crowded in the evening, and that the concert by the little ones was pleasing no better proof need be given than that a good number stood up in the back part of the church listening to them for an hour and a half. Superintendent Bailey has reason to be proud of his Sunday School children, and much credit is due Mrs. J. A. Marshall, who had entire charge of drilling the young folks for the concert.

Baptist.

The services here were well attended and interesting. Rev. H. M. Douglas entertained his audience with an Easter sermon from John 11: 25-27. Believers feel resurrection as real, certain, precious and glorious because Christ is the resurrection. The glory of the resurrection is seen in the fullness of the resurrection life. There was a good display of plants and flowers. The children went through their programme in the evening without a break and the concert was much enjoyed by all. Solos were given by Miss Nellie Stiles, Mrs. Carpenter and Miss Lillian Taylor.

Episcopal.

Three services were held in St. Andrew's church with good audiences at every one. Easter lilies and palms were prettily arranged about the chancel. At 7:30 morning prayer was conducted by Mr. Alling. At 10:30 Rev. F. Appleton gave a short and instructive sermon from Luke 24: 5, 6 and Rev. 1: 18. The choir rendered in an excellent manner the programme printed last week. Communion followed the morning service. At the Sunday School, books given by Miss Kidder, were presented Andrew Moore, Carrie Bluet and Edmund Carr for the best attendance during the year. The evening service was held at five o'clock and Mr. Appleton preached from Mark 16: 3.

Free Baptist.

The services here were interesting and properly appreciated by good audiences. An able Easter sermon was preached in the morning by the pastor, Rev. G. C. Waterman, from Matt. 28: 6, "He is risen." The sermon was instructive and contained many helpful suggestions. In the evening a musical service entitled "Olivet," by Gabriel, was finely rendered, interspersed with songs and recitations by the children and readings by the young ladies, all well done.

Catholic Church.

There was no spare room in this church at any of the three services. First mass was held at 7:30 a. m., and music was rendered by the children of the convent. High mass was conducted at 10 o'clock by Rev. Father Marceaux, and an excellent sermon from the text, "Remain with us," was given by Father Boissonnault. The large audience was much entertained by the St. Cecilia choir and soloists, including several violin solos. The male quartette and choir gave a fine musical programme at vespers at 4 p.
